Samoa.

The resignations of Chief Justice Cederkrantz and Baron von Pilsach will free Samoa from a heavy burden. The treaty powers will have to recast the whole scheme of Samoan government, for it is founded on the assumption that the islands produce a good revenue, and therefore that the natives can stand a fair rate of taxation. Those who know Samoa are aware of the absurdity of this ground. The natives will not work, and no power can make them labor as do men in less favored regions. It is no discredit to a man to loaf when three or four hours' work wil Samoans with a government cost-ing many thousands of dollars a year in salaries was a roaring farce.
